BOOSTER CLUB HOLDS BANQUET

Comparing the cheering at an athletic contest with mob psychology, M. P. "Jim" Hartzell told members of the Booster Club at its annual banquet at Banker's Restaurant Wednesday night that "in order to get the best cheering it is necessary for the team supporters to lose their identity."

"There are three kinds of Gettysburg College fans: The living group which cheers more for its individual members on the team than the team itself; the faculty which is afraid to cheer because it upsets their dignity, and the neophyte or the person who knows nothing about the sport involved but attends the game because it is something to do."

Dr. Harold Dunkelberger, faculty advisor, was presented with a gift from the group. He spoke briefly.

Dr. Walter C. Langsam, president of the college, praised the Booster Club. "It is one of the finest organizations on the campus. Everything it does, it does because it wants to. It has no national chapter behind it, but gives its service only to the college. It is this type of organization that makes fine alumni."

William Dickinson, president of the club, served as toastmaster. Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harman, 212 W. Middle St.; Paul Cessna, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Bucklew, Mrs. Langsam, Mrs. Dunkelberger and Richard C. Debus.

EASTER SEAL SALE NEARING ITS FINAL WEEK

Contributions to the 1953 Easter Seal appeal by the Adams County Crippled Children's Society are running slightly ahead of last year's returns for the comparable date, it was revealed today by Miss Elizabeth Evans, society treasurer, who said she has received $1,490.86 in the current fund raising effort.

The seal sale will enter its final week on Sunday and will conclude on Easter Sunday. Contributions received in this annual appeal to organizations and individuals throughout the county will finance the work of the society for the coming year.

At the same stage in the 1952 sale, the society had received $1,407.90, Miss Evans said. The campaign annually covers the month immediately before Easter.

Half Million Seals

More than a half million Easter seals were mailed to Adams County residents early this month. Persons who have not received seals and wish to purchase them may secure sheets of the seals from Miss Evans and thus participate in the 20th annual appeal on behalf of crippled children.

The county society provides special shoes, braces and other special appliances for many of the approximately 100 crippled boys and girls under its care in this county. The children are taken to state clinics, to the Elizabethtown Hospital for Crippled Children and to other hospitals and each summer several county children are sent to the state camps for crippled children at the expense of the county organization.

Keep 76 Pct. Here

Larry Kepner, Gettysburg's legless boy, is now walking on artificial legs the society helped to provide.

Russel S. Hackman, Biglerville, member of the board of directors of the crippled children's society and chairman of the seal sale committee, explained today that "76 per cent of all the funds raised through the Easter seal sale remain right here in Adams County. Altogether 91.7 per cent will remain in Pennsylvania to continue and expand services, notably the summer camps. The remaining 8.3 per cent will go to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults to support the nationwide three-point program of research, education and direct services."

Mountains White With Spring Snow

When the weatherman says "snow in the mountains" he means it. Despite the arrival of spring last week, the South Mountains collected a fairly heavy blanket of snow during the night. At Mont Alto Sanatorium the depth of the snow was given as three inches; elsewhere the depth was estimated at up to four inches.

Weather records at Mont Alto showed 1.26 inches of precipitation, with rain falling throughout the evening until it turned to snow about 10:30 o'clock. The snow continued to fall until about 3 o'clock this morning. Had all the rain during the night been snow, the depth would have been about a foot.

Colder weather in the higher levels of the mountains turned rain to snow and gave the mountains a white covering that lasted throughout the day. In the foot hills, the snow came down in skiffs which did not last. On lower land there was no snow.

ASK DAIRYMEN TO MEETING ON BRUCELLOSIS

Members of the county's Brucellosis committee are hoping all dairymen in the county will be present Monday evening at what they describe as "the most important meeting this committee has ever held."

The session, in the Court House at 8 o'clock is designed to bring complete information on all phases of the Bang's disease situation in the state.

The committee is seeking to interest owners of all herds in the county in testing for brucellosis, both from a health standpoint and a financial aspect.

According to the committee members, Bang's disease, with which some of the 2,400 milk cows in the county are believed to be infected, is particularly dangerous, not only because it strikes at the herd itself, but because it also causes undulant fever in humans.

SENATOR SAYS MUCH STUDY IS NEEDED YET ON CONSTITUTION

HARRISBURG (AP)—A House-passed bill setting up machinery to revise Pennsylvania's 79-year-old constitution will require much study before it can be brought to the Senate floor for a vote, Sen. Donald P. McPherson (R-Adams) said today.

"There are many constitutional questions involved in the calling of a constitutional convention," McPherson, chairman of the committee holding the bill, asserted.

The Adams County Republican has refused to say that the administration-supported bill is dead despite the known opposition to it of most GOP members of his committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations.

Democrats Driving

Meanwhile, Senate Democrats who compose only five of the 16 members of the McPherson committee, are making a new drive to get the bill on the Senate floor for debate.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader, declared that the Senate cannot act "intelligently" upon Chesterman Committee economy proposals until the Constitutional Revision Bill is released from committee.

McPherson said he believed there was a question of whether the pres- (Continued on Page 2)

Allies Driven Off Old Baldy; Badly Defeated By Red Troops

SEOUL (AP)—American warplanes and artillery turned Old Baldy into a smoking mess of blasts and death today after U. S. troops abandoned it to victorious Chinese.

All day long the Western Front hill rocked under intense fire as the Americans tried to root out the stubborn Reds who handed U. N. troops their worst beating since they were thrown off the Kumhwa Ridges five months ago.

The U. S. Seventh Division pulled out in today's early darkness, dynamiting their trenches and bunkers.

Another Red Attack
The strategic fortress guarding the Imjin Valley route to Seoul was left to the Reds and death. But even as the Chinese on Baldy squirmed under the U. S. guns, another Red force struck four Allied outposts about 25 miles to the southwest in the Munsan-Panmunjom area.

Delay Election

Dawson described experiments to determine the origin of leucosis, which continues as a major problem. Arguments that the disease is hereditary seemed to gain strength from experiments in which 28 different sets of eggs were hatched under the same condition; the chicks and chickens were handled in similar fashion throughout and leucosis caused from 5 to 32 per cent mortality in the different pens. At the same time arguments that it spreads through the air are given strength by the speed with which the disease seems to spread once it gets in a flock.

Dawson showed slides on new broiler houses and equipment.

Assistant County Agent Fred H. Attinger presided with 30 present. Plans to hold the annual election of officers for the county poultry federation were postponed until the next meeting.

A $100 donation to the Red Cross is the requirement for enrollment as a "C-Noter." President Eisenhower became the first member of the club here when he sent the county Red Cross a donation of $100.

Today at noon the total stood at $75,18.

David Houck, chairman of the Arendtsville, Mummastown, Brysonia district, also gave the total a boost today by turning in $233 in a partial report from his area.

Campaign Chairman Charles W. Wolf has asked all district chairmen to make complete reports on collection in their areas by next Tuesday, March 31.

President Eisenhower's donation had been credited to District 15, Gettysburg R. D. south.

NO PROBE MADE IN SHULTZ CASE

State police of the Gettysburg substation said today that no investigation of the wounding of Kenneth Ira Shultz, Orrtanna R. 1, in a hunting accident near Caledonia last December 1, from which he died March 22, was to be made by the state police unless a request was made by District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter.

Shultz was shot on Green Ridge, Cpl. Frank Yercavage said, less than half a mile south of the Graefenberg golf course, and just over the line in Adams County.

Yercavage said John Spahr, game protector, talked with Sergeant Joseph E. Temple of the Gettysburg substation Wednesday, and was told to present all his information to the district attorney. The state police will conduct a further investigation if Mr. Teeter requests it, Yercavage said.

A preliminary investigation was already made by Spahr accompanied by Pfc. Robert Brady of the Gettysburg substation, the corporal said. The district attorney said today he had not seen Spahr recently, but had suggested to him shortly after the shooting that a thorough investigation be made immediately.

ASK DAIRYMEN

cities are planning to establish ordinances banning milk from non-tested herds, there is a possibility that the county's dairymen may find in the near future that they cannot dispose of their milk.

Among the speakers for the session are Joseph Taylor, State College extension specialist, Dr. Guy Graybill, chief of Brucellosis division, State Bureau of Animal Industry, and Dr. Clarence Manziano, U. S. Department of Agriculture veterinarian currently serving in the state on Brucellosis control.

Another factor entering into the need for speed in setting up testing for brucellosis in the county is the expectation that the indemnity paid by the state will be lowered as more and more herds come under the program and the number of cows killed because they have the disease increases. At present the state guarantees up to 90 per cent of the appraised value of the cow slaughtered because of brucellosis.

Members of the county brucellosis committee include Lester Lester Jacobs, Hanover R. D.; George L. Haenn, Gettysburg R. D.; Joseph A. Stoner, East Berlin R. D.; Edgar H. Leer, York Springs R. D.; and Harry Scott, Gettysburg R. D.

"And even if it does," he added, "The question still remains of whether the constitutional convention would be all-powerful in deciding the fate of the commonwealth's governmental setup."

heavy artillery fire. The Chinese jumped off just after sundown and the fighting was still hot three hours later.

There was no immediate report on the size of the attack.

On Old Baldy, the Chinese held tightly to the land they had swept over Monday night. U. S. counterattacks Tuesday and Wednesday got nowhere.

After the Americans pulled out, Associated Press correspondent Stan Carter said one officer told him: "Now they (Allied planes) can plaster the whole hill."

Victious Shelling

Carter said division officers felt there could be only a token Red force on the barren hill after the Allied bombing and shelling.

U. S. big guns chomped up 300 Chinese trying to get to the peak. As the shelling and bombing began in the dawn, four wounded Colombian soldiers escaped from a battered bunker where they had hidden under the noses of the Reds since Monday night.

Dazed and almost incoherent, they reported the Chinese seem to be suffering intensely—they had taken the same shelling, caged on the Chinese-held portion of Baldy.

Hitler Rules As Dictator—Berlin March 24 (AP)—Germany became a dictatorship under the old Prussian system Thursday when the Reichstag handed over to Adolf Hitler power to govern by decree for the next four years.

The Socialists objected, but they were snowed under in the Reichstag by a vote of 441 to 94.

What happened Thursday was inevitable. The Reichstag, packed with the Chancellor's own Nazi supporters, could do nothing but accede to his demand for the passage of an enabling act which empowers the government, among

HIS WAY
He never let his care disturb his joy when it was time to play. He never hid the morning sun behind the clouds of yesterday. He never let the bad in men blind him to neighbors fine and good. He did his share of grieving but he laughed as often as he could.

Because one man had played him false he didn't say all men are base.

He frowned on what he thought was wrong yet met the good with smiling face. He didn't talk about the pains he'd had when he was feeling well.

Nor make of life a tragedy because he had some woes to tell.

He lived his life from day to day, met what he found without a whine.

Was grieved when grief was his to bear and happy when his skies were fine.

He fought when there were wrongs to right and toiled when there was work to do. Yet made the most of what was good, and kept his troubles out of view.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE LISTENER

One of the most famous of the world's sculptured pieces is that one by Rodin, the French artist, called "The Thinker." As we look upon it in bronze, or in a pictured reproduction, we are stimulated to think. Thinking is responsible for what progress and advancement in knowledge we have had over the centuries. If people had not thought things out we would have stagnated long ago.

Next to "The Thinker," however, I would place "The Listener." He could easily be the twin brother of "The Thinker." What a mass of useful knowledge we learn from merely listening! In a group of people I always keep my eyes upon the listener, not the talker. His very silence is evidence of his deep thinking. The interesting person in a group on trains in the Club car is the one who listens, saying nothing. Keep your eye on him.

I was on my way to Washington once and listened to the talk of many men. A man from Texas engaged in brief talk the man next to him, but he apparently learned nothing, so asked for his card, which was given to him. When he had left the car the man next to me showed me the card and asked if I knew who he was. "Yes," I replied, "he is Sam Rayburn, Speaker of the House!"

While covering one of the national political conventions, I was often privileged to sit in on many thrilling discussions by famous folk. I recall a most stimulating evening in Chicago, when a Congressman, a noted woman writer, and two or three others engaged in talk into the small hours of the morning. It was brilliant talk, but what amused me most was a man who leaned his chair against the wall—and just listened. He was William Allen White!

The listener is always turning over a heap of soil in his mind as talk near him goes on. He is planting many a discovered seed in that soil of his mind. His thoughts are on an intellectual harvest later on! Many a listener learns more than the talker or reader. He also makes a valuable friend.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Bird Hobby."

KOREAN DEATH ROAD HAS ITS LONGEST MILE

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—There are gaping holes in the camouflage screen that attempts to hide the road they call "Chink Alley."

Chinese shells put them there. No one wants to repair them. "Chink Alley" is a steep, twisting road that snakes from Allied main positions forward to lonely outposts where gunners are dug in waiting to blurt any Chinese attack.

Its sister road, to the east, is called "Death Valley."

Both of them are shell pitted and it makes for rough riding. But there is no speed limit on either road.

Before a driver starts a trip down either he checks his gasoline supply and makes sure his motor is operating well. Then when he tops the ridge that shields him from the Red gunner he tromps the accelerator to the floor and curses his vehicle for not responding more rapidly.

Longest Mile

As the supply truck topped the rise and started down the longest mile, in Korea, Lt. Joseph Luger, St. Paul, Minn., pointed to a mass of forbidding brown mountains just across a frozen ribbon of ice that glistened in the bright afternoon sun.

"Joe Chink is watching from those hills," he said.

A brutal, bone-chilling winter wind whipped through the open back of the truck as it hurtled around the curves.

But the mile was negotiated without incident. Except for the huge holes torn in the green and brown camouflage screen and the splintered poles that dropped every few feet, there was little to indicate that road is a favorite Chinese hunting ground.

Little, that is, until the truck reached the forward position of an anti-aircraft gun. Called "flak wagons," the fast-firing ack-ack guns are used on the Korean front lines to spray their heavy streams of lead at Red bunkers and trenches.

Huddled beside the flak wagon, bundled like an Eskimo but still pink-cheeked and shivering from the cold, was Pvt. Kenneth Thomas of Russell Spring, Ky.

He peered across the valley that is owned by no one and pointed out the Communist trenches across the way.

"We've had several incoming rounds this afternoon," he said. He said the Reds were firing mainly at a tank position some distance to the left and an observation post to the rear.

"Joe Chink knows that flak wagon is here," he said. "But he's left us alone so far today."

He eyed the Chinese trenches gouged out of the brown hills in front and suddenly there was the angry clatter of an incoming artillery round 50 yards behind him along "Chink Alley."

A dirty smoke cloud boiled up and bits of metal clanged off rocks. "That's a 120 mortar, I think," Thomas said.

There was a general movement to crouch beside the flak wagon. Thomas pointed out the twisted brown-charred hulk of a tank about 120 yards to the left. "They knocked that out yesterday with six rounds," he said. "Luckiest shooting I ever saw."

He explained one of the Red rounds hit the gas tank and the whole tank caught fire. The men scrambled out safely just before their own ammunition exploded and blew the entire front off the tank. "Tanks are their favorite targets," he said.

A battery of Allied artillery guns "carreroomed" far behind and the soft rustle of artillery shells passed overhead. Occasional brown dirt clouds showed where they landed in Red territory.

Then another Red shell crashed behind "Chink Alley." It seemed like a good time to go.

On the stomach-sinking ride back up "Chink Alley" Luger said:

"This is the spot where the first round landed. I hope you don't mind the bouncing if I speed up a little bit."

The Eagle silk mill is again operating full time, Robert Berkeheimer, manager, has announced.

The plant was reopened on Thursday and now approximately 90 men and women are on the payroll. By the end of the week about 150 persons will be employed.

Mr. Berkeheimer said orders for silk are "fair" and day and night shifts have again been recalled.

Relentless Foes Of Dulles To Face Him In Appropriations Committee; They're Losing Now

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weather forecast: more rain for Secretary of State Dulles.

He's winning in the current crisis—getting the Senate to approve Charles E. Bohlen as ambassador to Moscow—but that doesn't mean he's heard the last of it.

Dulles' three most relentless foes in the Bohlen fight will shortly have a chance to rake him over, face to face, one at a time or all together, and they can take all the time they want doing it.

All On Appropriations
They are Senators McCarthy of Wisconsin and Bridges of New Hampshire, both Republicans, and Sen. McCarran, Nevada Democrat. All three are members of the Senate's powerful appropriations committee. Bridges is chairman.

This committee divides itself up into subcommittees to examine the money requests of all the government agencies and to recommend just how much money the subcommittees think they really need. Bridges is also chairman of the subcommittee which checks on the State Department. McCarthy and McCarran are on this subcommittee too.

"Under My Thumb"
Weeks ago, when he took this subcommittee chairmanship in addition to heading the full committee, Bridges told newsmen: "I want to keep the State Department under my thumb."

Dulles will have to appear before all three of them to explain and justify the money his department, with his approval, says it needs for its various activities.

This means Bridges, McCarthy and McCarran can cross-examine him to their heart's desire, which is something they couldn't do when Dulles went before the foreign relations committee to back Bohlen. None of the three is a member of that committee.

McCarthy Has Plans
McCarthy already has served notice he'll probably tackle Dulles on the Bohlen case when the secretary comes before the appropriations subcommittee.

McCarthy and McCarran both said during the Bohlen fight that the State Department's security officer, R. W. Scott McLeod, disagreed with Dulles, who maintained that Bohlen was a good security risk. Dulles said there was no such disagreement.

McCarthy tried unsuccessfully to force a showdown between Dulles and McLeod who, before taking his State Department job less than a month ago, was an assistant to Bridges.

Committee Didn't Bite
After making his charge that McLeod had disagreed with Dulles on Bohlen, McCarthy tried to get McLeod to testify before the Senate investigating committee he heads. For a still unexplained reason, McLeod stayed away.

Then McCarthy tried to talk the foreign relations committee—which had unanimously endorsed Bohlen after questioning Dulles—to call McLeod for testimony on the Bohlen case.

McCarthy wanted Dulles called back too. The foreign relations committee didn't buy the idea. Not being a member of that committee, McCarthy couldn't push it.

But now there's nothing to stop McCarthy, Bridges and McCarran from questioning both Dulles and McLeod when their appropriations subcommittee begins hearings on funds for the State Department.

For a government official testifying before an appropriations committee, life can be made pleasant or miserable, depending on the mood of the committee members. And McCarthy, McCarran and Bridges are not men who enjoy taking the beating they've been getting from Dulles and President Eisenhower in the Bohlen case.

New Textbooks For AROTC Next Fall

A new series of Air Force textbooks will line the book shelves of Gettysburg College AROTC cadets when they begin their new academic year next September.

Approximately 20 titles will be available with eleven more scheduled for publication in 1954. The completed series will contain some 4,000 pages. The textbooks, designed to support the new Generalized Curriculum of the AROTC, are now being prepared at the AROTC Headquarters of the Air University in Montgomery, Alabama.

Air Force officials, realizing that Air Science has social and cultural significance in addition to a military one, have included in the new curriculum subject matter which approaches traditional college courses in geography, problem solving, management and communication from a military standpoint. They will be delivered before July 1.

In conjunction with the textbooks, a new series of training aids, such as film transparencies, mock-ups, models, charts and graphs, is planned.

May Bring Hiss From Prison For Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal that Alger Hiss be called from prison to testify about the hiring of United Nations staff members comes up for consideration today by a House judiciary subcommittee.

It was made by Rep. Byron Rogers (D-Colo.), only Democratic member of the group investigating alleged Communist infiltration of the U. N. staff.

He said Hiss should be asked about earlier testimony that he unofficially relayed to the U. N. hundreds of names of job seekers in 1945-46.

DISPUTE IDLES 6,000 MINERS

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Some 6,000 Anthracite miners were kept idle today by a labor dispute involving 250 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen of the Lehigh and New England Railroad.

One of the country's major anthracite and cement carriers, the Lehigh and New England operates in Eastern Pennsylvania, Northern New Jersey and New York. It is a subsidiary of the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co.

A pay dispute which touched off the walkout Tuesday involves mines operated by the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co., another subsidiary of Lehigh Coal and Navigation. Production was halted by the tie-up of freight facilities needed to haul coal from the breakers, a coal firm spokesman said.

The president of the railroad, W. H. Edwards, said the company

Pennsylvania High Schools Have Produced Fine Crop Of Prospective College Cagers

By BEN FRENCH
HARRISBURG (P)—Pennsylvania high schools—long noted for producing top gridiron material—have come up with a bumper crop of excellent college basketball prospects this year.

The news has made its way to college coaches throughout the East and Midwest and they've dispatched agents to the Keystone State for a closer look.

Many leading schoolboy stars are being followed with collegiate offers. Scouts point out that while the state has always turned out individual stars they can't remember when there has been as much quantity as quality.

For example, if you want high scorers there are at least nine players in the Class A ranks of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association who have averaged over 24 points per game.

Average 27 Points
Dave Ricketts, the 6 foot 1 younger brother of Duquesne University's Dick Ricketts, averaged 27.3 points in 22 games for Pottsville. Windber's 6 foot 2 Jim Kaplan and Harrisburg's John Harris' Dave Graybill were right behind with marks of 27 per game.

Plymouth's Ted Dwyer and Old Forge's Marty Farrell were the talk of the anthracite area. Dwyer had an average of 26 while Farrell clicked for 26.4 in regular season play.

Jack Kalbfus, Greensburg's 6-2 ace, was the leading scorer in the Pittsburgh area WPAL as he accounted for an average of 25.5 although seldom playing an entire game.

The Northwest boasted Erie's Tech Carmen Riazzi who turned in a mark of 25.3 in leading Tech to the Erie City title. Jackie May of Norristown and Coal Township's Johnny Duda had averages over 24 points.

Good Team Players
In addition to the high scorers, the PIAA produced such excellent team players as Yeadon's Jack Weissman, Allentown's trio of Frank Reinhart, Mel Geho and Dale Smith, Homestead's Jimmy Smith, Sharon's Bob Atterholt and Charles Mitchell, Coatesville's Jim Lopp and Meadville's Norm Voorhees.

Others catching the eyes of the coaches are John Maglio, Haverford; Bob Gall, Bethlehem; Bob Watro, Hazleton; Bill Vesconi, Sharpville; James Fahey, Erie Cathedral Prep; Jack Houser, Pottsville; Ron Naccarato, Harrisburg Catholic; Bill Salankiewicz, Ford City, and James Riley, McKeesport.

All these players and many others are being screened now for the annual Associated Press All-Pennsylvania schoolboy team. The selections will be released next week.

PROTEST CAGE TITLE CONTEST

HARRISBURG (P)—Harrisburg Catholic High School officials filed an official protest today over the state championship game with Erie Prep at Erie Tuesday night. Harrisburg lost 66-64.

The Rev. Walter H. Shaull, principal of the Harrisburg school, mailed the protest to Eastern and Western co-ordinators of the Pennsylvania Catholic Interscholastic Athletic Association.

The protest was based on two points (1) that the Gannon College floor on which the game was played was "non-neutral" and (2) use of Erie resident officials.

The Gannon College floor originally was selected as the site for the championship game. However, after Harrisburg protested the game was shifted to East High floor and then switched back to the Gannon floor after the Harrisburg team reached Erie and inspected the East High floor.

The Harrisburg officials contended the Gannon floor was not a neutral floor, as required by the rules, since Erie Prep had used that floor during its regular season.

Weather Big Worry For Larry MacPhail

BOWIE, Md. (P)—The weather was the main worry of Larry MacPhail today as the former baseball magnate-turned racetrack operator prepared to begin his second season at Bowie.

This cozy "track in the pines" of Southern Maryland, where rain and mud gave MacPhail nightmares last fall, opens the major Eastern racing season tomorrow.

Bowie is having a combined 31-day spring meeting with Laurel race course while the latter is getting a 2½ million dollar face lifting in the form of a swank new clubhouse.

OKLAHOMA A&M AND BRADLEY NCACSS TARGET

CHICAGO (P)—Oklahoma A&M and Bradley have become targets in an athletic cleanup campaign of a powerful accrediting academic agency, and an official of the group today warned that "it's just the beginning."

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools has acted to drop the Stillwater, Okla., school from academic accreditation and place the Peoria, Ill., university on a one-year probation.

The recommendation for such a move was made at the association's annual week-long meeting yesterday by its Commission on Colleges and Universities. The Association's Executive Committee immediately approved it.

Ratification A Formality
Officials said the matter will be placed before the NCA's entire delegation tomorrow and ratification by that body was more or less a formality.

The NCA is a 19-state group of 368 colleges and universities. Last year 90 per cent of membership voted for an athletic reform program.

Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma, when he heard of the discreditation, notified the NCA that "the whole state is shocked." He asked for a public hearing on the matter.

Vital To Prestige
In the educational world, academic approval is vital to prestige. Loss of accreditation is one of the worst blows that can be landed. It would handicap enrollment potential as well as students or faculty members seeking transfer to accredited schools.

Oklahoma A&M, king-pin of the Missouri Valley Conference, is a perennial national basketball power. Bradley, former Valley member and now an independent, is fighting back to athletic stability after being jolted by the widespread basketball scandals. The NCA commended the school for "moving vigorously in the direction of correcting unsatisfactory conditions."

The charge alleged that A&M stressed athletics "as a means for securing public support," and that "it lacked faculty control of athletic policy and athletes were subsidized."

Bradley was said to be conducting an unsatisfactory athletic program and having educational weaknesses.

Seek $20,000 For Arena Court Floor

HARRISBURG (P)—A bill appropriating $20,000 for the purchase of a portable basketball floor to be used at the State Farm Show Arena has reached the House.

The aim of the measure, said Rep. Nolan F. Zeigler (R-Dauphin), a co-sponsor, is to provide a new site for state playoffs in Central Pennsylvania. The arena seats 7,600 persons.

Co-sponsors with Zeigler are Reps. Robert S. Ogilvie (R-Dauphin) and Clarence R. Stoner (R-Cumberland).

The arena now is covered with tan bark and is used exclusively for agricultural exhibitions and the annual Pennsylvania National Horse show. Zeigler estimated the cost of a portable floor at $17,000. The measure also would empower the Farm Show Commission to lease the arena for public recreation.

Bob Elliott Signs With St. Louis Browns

TUCSON, Ariz. (P)—Infielder Bob Elliott, a National League veteran of 14 years with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Boston Braves and New York Giants, yesterday signed a one-year contract with the St. Louis Browns.

The 36-year-old Elliott, who was the National League's most valuable player while with the Braves in 1947, has been working out with the Browns this spring. He was released by the Giants last fall.

NEW MEASURE IS PARTIAL TO RURAL ROADS

HARRISBURG (P)—Rural roads would receive the biggest proportion of state financial aid under a new plan advanced in the Senate. A bill introduced by Sens. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton), A. H. Letzler (R-Clearfield) and William J. Lane (D-Washington) Tuesday would appropriate 10 million dollars in state aid to second class townships for highway maintenance.

The appropriation would be part of a general increase of five million dollars to a total of 20 million offered by the commonwealth in aid to all municipalities. Twenty per cent, however, would have to be met on a matching basis.

$10 Million For Others
Equaling the 10 million to go to second class townships would be another 10 million to be offered to cities, towns, boroughs and first class townships.

During the present biennium the state granted a yearly total of 12 million dollars for aid to all municipalities with another three million offered on a matching basis.

Certification of the various communities for state aid in maintaining roads and bridges is made by the State Highways Department. The money comes from the state motor license fund.

SOVIET POLICY REMAINS BITTER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—The continuing bitterness of debate on every deadlocked East-West issue tempered the hopes today of some U. N. delegates that Russia's Andrei V. Vishinsky may bring back some sign of Soviet conciliation from his high-level talks in Moscow.

On nearly every issue now confronting the U. N., delegates have felt that Soviet policy cannot be fully and finally appraised until Vishinsky comes back from his consultations with the post-Stalin regime in the Kremlin. He is due to arrive in New York today aboard the liner Queen Mary.

No Hint Of Peace
The voices of Soviet bloc representatives have been as vitriolic as ever in their attacks against the United States during recent debates. They have given no hint that Soviet Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov's recent "peace talk" bodes an easing of world tensions.

In the 60-nation political committee, delegates were scheduled to take up debate again today on Czechoslovakia's charge that the United States is financing and directing espionage and subversion to overthrow the East European Communist governments.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. already has denied categorically the Soviet bloc charges, which have been echoed by Russia's Andrei Gromyko and Poland's Julius Katz-Suchy.

DODGERS RICH THIS YEAR IN MOUND TALENT

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports writer

Last year the one thing the Brooklyn Dodgers lacked was good pitching. This spring they're wallowing in it.

In their last four games Brooklyn pitchers have put together 30 consecutive scoreless innings during which they yielded only 14 hits—amazing figures for a team that won the 1952 pennant by clubbing the opposition to death.

All the more impressive is the fact that more than half of these scoreless frames have come from rookies not even on the Brooklyn roster.

Pair Of Shutouts

Glenn Mickens, a 22-year-old right-hander with less than two seasons of organized ball under his belt, started the string last Saturday as he shut out the Boston Red Sox in the final three innings of an 8-4 victory.

Carl Erskine, the No. 1 starter, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics on two scrawny hits as he went all the way on Monday.

Left-hander Johnny Podres, a 20-year-old from the Montreal Royals, mowed down Montreal for seven scoreless stanzas Tuesday and Ron Negray, who came up from St. Paul late last season, continued the goose eggs in the final two.

Konstanty Blanks Tigers
Yesterday it was Bob Milliken, just out of the Army, for six and relief ace Joe Black for three as the Dodgers edged the Milwaukee Braves, 1-0.

Another fine pitching job yesterday came from veteran Jim Konstanty of the Philadelphia Phils. He blanked Detroit, 7-0, on seven hits as the Tigers fell before a National League team for the first time this spring.

Bob Porterfield and Julio Moreno of Washington shut out the Red Sox for 10 innings. The Senators won, 4-0. The first run in the 10th came on a wide throw by shortstop Johnny Lipon and later Ken Wood homered with two on base.

5th Win For Cards
The St. Louis Cardinals won their fifth game in 17 spring starts, 7-1, against the New York Yankees. The first two St. Louis runs came off Johnny Sain, who worked the opening six innings, but most of the blasting was against Ewell Blackwell.

Three runs in the eighth inning off Frank Hiller gave the Chicago White Sox a 6-3 verdict over the New York Giants.

The St. Louis Browns evened their spring series with the Chicago Cubs at 2-2 as Don Larsen and Virgil Trucks set the Cubs down, 4-1, at Tucson.

Minor league outfits mopped up on the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland Indians. The A's bowed, 8-3, to Baltimore of the International League and Cleveland lost, 6-2, to San Diego of the Pacific Coast circuit.

Name McCracken "Coach Of Year"

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Branch McCracken, who guided Indiana University to the Big Ten and NCAA titles in 1953, has been named College Basketball Coach of the Year by the Philadelphia Basketball Writers Association.

The Hoosier coach, whose team had a 17-1 season record and a 23-3 overall record, took leave of his current job of coaching the All-Star team in New York to accept the award at the writer's annual banquet last night.

Bob Cousy, star of the Boston Celtics National Basketball Association team, and college court stars Tom Gola of La Salle and Ernie Beck of Pennsylvania also were honored by the scribes, who named Gola and Beck co-winners of the first Robert V. Geasey Memorial Award.

The award is in honor of the late Temple University public relations director.

TENNIS QUEEN DRIVES TAXI SEEKING NEWS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (P)—Don't be surprised if you hear that Maureen Connolly, world's tennis queen, is driving a taxicab.

No, she's not giving up her racquet chores. But Little Mo is an ingenious young girl.

She writes a regular column for the San Diego Union and recently spent eight hours as a cabbie trying to dig up some material for her column.

Her first fares were the cab company bosses. They asked to be taken to a downtown San Diego hotel.

"I guess they wanted to see if I could drive," she said. "But after that it was strictly solo."

"Believe me, I was more nervous than on that final day of Wimbledon, but I managed to park in a cab stand where a very busy-looking man got into my cab."

Maureen said the passenger gave her an address that well might have been in Kalamazoo for all she knew. She made out okay, however. Her fare knew where he wanted to go and acted as an official guide.

After delivering the man to the address, she pulled into the nearest stand, gave her location to the radio operator, and waited for the next fare.

Radio Helps

"Then I got a call over the radio. The operator kept calling out 'Cab 800, Cab 800' I had forgotten it was my number when I heard a very distinct 'Maureen, wake up' and I jumped for the mike."

The operator gave Miss Connolly a call to a restaurant.

When she asked the operator where the place was, the voice over the radio came back with "Right across the street from where you are now!"

Maureen smiled when she recalled this tidbit. "There was that restaurant—right across the street—big as life."

The 18-year-old star of the tennis courts said she enjoyed her day as a cab driver, and added: "When the paper can't stand me any more, you may see me applying for a steady cabbie job."

GEORGE ARAUJO IS EASY WINNER

CLEVELAND (P)—Methodical George Araujo, an easy winner over Teddy "Red Top" Davis, took a spectator's seat today to await his turn at trying for the lightweight boxing championship.

Tommy Collins gets his chance April 24 in Boston when he battles the champion, Jimmy Carter. Araujo has been promised a crack at the winner within 60 days.

Araujo left little doubt last night about his right to a fistcliffs Pd. D. while winning a unanimous and easy decision over Davis in a nationally televised bout at Cleveland Arena.

Davis Was Underdog
Ranked No. 1 in the lightweight division, Araujo raked Davis with lightning lefts and smashing rights to the head. The steady pounding opened a cut over the Hartford, Conn. battler's right eye in the sixth round. Except for an occasional right to his jaw, the Providence, R. I. boxer had little trouble with "Red Top."

Although a 2-L underdog, Davis had been expected to give Araujo more trouble by crowding him. He surprised everyone by staying away.

The unanimous verdict was 7-2-1 by referee Tony La Branch, 8-2 by judge Herb Williams and 7-3 by judge Charlie Bill. A total of 6,319 fans, many who grabbed special $1 seats, paid a gross of $10,060. Araujo weighed 133½ to 133 for Davis.

Bowie Meet Will Start On Friday
BOWIE, Md., March 26—With all but a few last minute details to be ironed out, the new Bowie Race Course is all primed to usher in the major Eastern racing season Friday, with the first program of a 31-day combined Bowie-Laurel meeting. Larry S. Macphail, president of the host course, has made daily inspection trips of the modern plant stressing patron convenience and is confident that the session will prove highly successful.

There are six major events to be decided before the meeting closes out on May 2. The added money tests will be run on successive Saturdays beginning with the $10,000 Rowe Memorial Handicap this weekend. The three transplanted Laurel stakes follow the $10,000 Cherry Blossom, April 4; $25,000 Chesapeake Stakes, April 11; $15,000 Laurel Handicap, April 18. The final two Saturdays of the meeting are highlighted by the $20,000 Bowie Handicap, April 25; and the $10,000 Bowie Kindergarten, May 2.

Post time is 1:45 daily.

Fifth Western Title
Once again sharp floorwork, accurate shooting and "classy ball-handling won for the Dist. 1 contenders. In the Western finale Sharon had no difficulty in topping Meadville to become the first school to cop the regional crown five times. It was the first time Meadville's Sect. 2 champs from the upper northwest had ever made the regional title game.

The tigers more than doubled Meadville's first quarter output, 16-7, built their lead to 18 points at halftime, 32-15, and then coasted to victory while concentrating on defense.

Here too, a teammate outscored the team's leading point getter over the season as Jack Shepard collected 14 to 11 for Bob Atterholt.

Scotland Yard Grimly Pushes Search Of Murder Flat; 4 Dead

LONDON (U) — Scotland Yard pressed grimly ahead today with an inch-by-inch search of the drab "murder flat in Rillington Place," which already has yielded up the bodies of four strangled women—one of them an expectant mother.

Police in all parts of the British Isles, meanwhile, were on the lookout for John Christie, dapper, 55-year-old mystery man who had lived for 15 years in the seedy little tenement apartment in London's rundown Notting Hill district.

The gruesome discovery recalled testimony of a 1949 murder defendant purporting to link Christie with the strangling of a woman and child in the same house. Christie denied the accusations and the defendant, the woman's husband, was executed.

All Strangled

One of the dead women in the Christie apartment was identified last night as Hectorina MacLennan, 25, a London servant girl.

Her brother said she had been missing from her home for about a month.

The other three victims—identities still unknown—were a brown-haired girl of about 25, the pregnant one, believed dead for about three months; a blonde of about 20, dead two to four months, and a fair-haired woman of about 45, dead three to four months.

Two Still Unknown

Police today tentatively identified another as Kathleen Maloney, a pretty, 19-year-old blonde with scarlet-painted finger and toe nails. She had been dead two to four months.

The other two victims—identities still unknown—were a brown-haired girl of about 25, the pregnant one, believed dead for about three months, and a fair-haired woman of about 45, believed dead three to four months.

All four had been strangled with a thin cord or wire. Police were considering the possibility that the women had been murdered for the small amounts of money they may have had in their purses.

Detectives unearthed the older woman's body from under the living room floor boards yesterday. They said she might be Christie's wife Evelynne, who was last seen by neighbors around Christmas-time.

Neighbors reported Christie sold his meager furnishings late in January but was seen at the house as recently as last Friday.

A Polite Little Man

They described him as a "polite little man," always immaculately dressed and carrying a briefcase, who never failed to tip his pearl gray fedora to a woman.

He said he was a clerk. Although often out of work for long periods, other tenants said, he never seemed to lack for money.

Christie was a witness in 1949 against another tenant in the tenement, Timothy J. Evans, who was charged with strangling his wife Beryl and their 14-month-old daughter.

SEEK TO SAVE OLD LANDMARK AT BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE (U)—A 100-year-old landmark on the Johns Hopkins University campus considered one of the best examples of Italian architecture in the country, is perilously close to the razor's maul. But it's not going down without a fight.

The landmark is the Wyman Villa, the home of William Wyman, who gave the university half of its 120-acre campus in North Baltimore and the residue of his estate, valued at more than $700,000, at his death.

The villa was designed by the famous American architect of a century ago, Richard Upjohn, who also drew up the plans for the King Villa in Newport, R. I.

perilously close to the razor's maul. But it's not going down without a fight.

The landmark is the Wyman Villa, the home of William Wyman, who gave the university half of its 120-acre campus in North Baltimore and the residue of his estate, valued at more than $700,000, at his death.

The villa was designed by the famous American architect of a century ago, Richard Upjohn, who also drew up the plans for the King Villa in Newport, R. I.

Bequeathed In 1949

The villa was bequeathed to the university in June 1949, after the death of Mrs. Daniel Rollins, daughter of Wyman. Since then the university has found no use for it.

More than a year ago members of the Wyman family and others interested in the villa banded together to do something about its preservation. Last March they became incorporated as the William Wyman Memorial Foundation, Inc., without capital stock and on a non-profit basis.

Their main object was to take some action toward the preservation and utilization of the villa by the university. They are trying to raise money to restore the colorful structure.

No Modern Heating

The villa has no modern heating system and the cost for renovating it would run to many thousands of dollars.

But the suggestion of tearing down the landmark has created sudden interest among the sympathizers of old, artistic buildings.

Prof. Donald Drew Egbert of Princeton University wrote to a Hopkins trustee:

"Everyone knows that a given generation is likely to regard the best art of its grandfathers as ugly and not worth preserving. But a generation or two later those same works of art are being preserved with great veneration."

"Sheer Vandalism"

"In all honesty I believe that if the Wyman Villa is demolished at this time, the next generation

NEW OUTER BRA TOPS FASHIONS

The line of fashion is a slim one this Spring, requiring the figure beneath the fashion to be slim too. The secret of the slender look is the foundation garment that gently restrains Nature's curves.

Smooth, all-over control is the purpose of the newest foundations.

will look upon us who permitted its destruction as sheer vandals."

Prof. John Coolidge of the Department of Fine Arts of Harvard University expressed a fear that such action by Hopkins might adversely affect his own and other universities. He wrote a Hopkins trustee:

"A piece of vandalism such as the wanton destruction of the Wyman Villa could have very serious repercussions on Johns Hopkins itself, and by extension on all American private universities."

Brassieres are longer, girdles higher, corselets more sleek for the refinement of American women's figures.

Strapless brassieres become fashions this season, in a multitude of attractive styles, some with wired plunge necklines, others with the lowest décolletage. There are bras to be worn halter-style, others in cotton eyelet to show daintily through sheer blouses.

And the very new outer bras, in seersucker, denim, velvet, felt and filmy tulle, will top everything from shorts to evening skirts.

With the accent on a minimum of boning, girdles fit the midriff snugly right up to the bra line. Many are cut longer too, to control the thighline. Ribbons, embroidery and appliques add pretty touches to all of these figure-fashioners.

For the junior figure, boneless control, while one-piece garments for larger figures offer scientific design, with less boning, for better and more comfortable fit.

TRAILERS HELP SOLVE HOUSING IN ATOM TOWNS

NEW ELLENTON, S. C. (AP) — Trailers play a big part in the development of the U. S. hydrogen-bomb here. It has been estimated that more than 10,000 house trailers are parked in the area. They are occupied mostly by workers in the project and subsidiary industries.

In many instances, the people who live in them have removed the wheels and installed water and sewer lines. Many of them have radios, TV sets or both.

Reason for the trailers starts with the fact that this corner of South Carolina is sparsely settled. They were brought in to supply quick housing for the workers.

6,000 Own Trailers
An estimated 6,000 of the trailers are owned by the workers themselves. These families brought their homes with them when they came to work on the project. For the most part, they are parked in about 130 privately operated trailer parks. In most instances the workers brought their families along with their homes. Many of them are the property of construction workers who have found housing on construction projects difficult and who have therefore arranged to supply their own. These families are used to trailer living.

Another group of workers is housed in four huge rental trailer parks. For them, trailer living often is a new experience. In these big parks a trailer rents for $60 a month. The units contain a living room-dinette, a bedroom, a kitchen and a bath. It will sleep four. The kitchens are complete with range and refrigerator and the bathrooms have showers.

Helps Secure Workers
The availability of trailers for rent helps recruit workers, the AEC has found. The housing headache here has been faced on other government projects. It has been found that having his family with him helps worker's morale. The parks here are all operated by private companies or firms. An estimated 39,000 construction workers have been housed. Many of them are expected to be needed for the next three years.

The trailers have helped reduce the need for big government towns such as were built at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Puckland, Calif., and Los Alamos, N. M.

It is estimated that the nylon in a $1.50 pair of nylon stockings is worth about 10 cents.

SHOE STYLES ARE GIVING MEN BETTER BREAK

Gone is the day when a man had a best suit and a business suit, a pair of black shoes and one of tan. Practically every house that's built these days has some sort of a shoe closet for the man of the house where he can keep his various shoes for his various activities in near and orderly rows.

One of the things that has changed the shoe picture is the wide acceptance of the new synthetic materials, as well as linens and silks, for men's warm weather suits. Where men congregate they brag about the coolness and crispness of their Ortons and Nylons, Vicars and Acrilans, their real or synthetic silk suits. These suits go to town all during the hot weather. They are the "commuter's specials," since according to the books they neither wrinkle nor crush; raindrops don't hurt them and possibly they look cooler than they are!

Partly thanks to them we have the rush on trim spectator types, brogues, oxfords, slip-ons in combinations of mesh and leather which strike exactly the right note with these warm weather suit fashions.

In these new suiting blends, solid colors predominate in linen types, although there are some patterns. Neat checks and fine stripes are also approved for the town tropical type of suit. In the more sports types fancy weavers are popular and plaids are steadily rising in acceptance.

For his spring business suit, the well-dressed man will go a bit conservative this coming season. He likes a two-or three-button coat with patch pockets and plain back, or back with center vent. The double breasted suit, formerly important for town wear, comes off decidedly second best this season.

PRESIDENT AND M'CARTHY AT TAFT'S PARTY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A pinch of parlor politeness sweetened the senatorial squabble over President Eisenhower's choice of a Moscow ambassador last night.

Eisenhower and Sen. Taft (R-O), once opponents for the White House nomination but now united as administration leaders, shook hands with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). The occasion was a reception at Taft's home.

McCarthy, one of an admittedly small group fighting Senate confirmation of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen's nomination as ambassador, went to the party fresh from a round of hot debate on the topic. Mrs. Taft planned the reception in honor of Mrs. Eisenhower, but it grew until a couple of hundred Washington notables, including the President and Cabinet and congressional members, wound up on the guest list.

McCarthy arrived in the rain, greeted Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Eisenhower and their husbands, accepted a drink and retired to mingle.

The Wisconsin senator was not reached for comment on a couple of aside which punctuated the party patter as he sipped the drink. "Too bad it isn't poison," said Lady Nancy Astor, American-born former member of the British Parliament who is noted for her razor tongue.

"Nancy, are you being naughty?" asked Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt.

DIES OF BURNS

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Saxton, 42, died last night in the Chambersburg Hospital from burns received in a fire that also took the life of her 79-year old father.

Fire Chief John Shatzler said the fire started in a bedroom where an oil stove was in operation. The damage was confined to the bedroom.

SEN. WALCOTT AGAINST RENT CONTROL TO OCT.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the House Banking Committee said today he opposes an Eisenhower administration plan to extend general rent controls to Oct. 1.

Wolcott, in an interview, said federal ceilings on some 4,300,000 housing units in noncritical areas in 32 states can be lifted earlier than Oct. 1—just how much earlier he wasn't sure.

To Die April 30

The controls are scheduled to die April 30, unless extended. Acting Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming, speaking for the administration, urged an extension to Oct. 1 in a hearing before the Senate Banking Committee only yesterday.

A second administration witness, Deputy Secretary of Defense Roger M. Kyes, was called before the Senate group today to give further details of what the executive branch wants in the way of continued economic controls.

There were signs of strong opposition in the Senate and House to the proposal for a five-month extension of general rent curbs.

BONNETS ARE FAVORED FOR YOUNGER SET

When it comes to millinery fashions, this Spring the younger set favors two classic shapes — the bonnet for dress-up and Sunday wear, and the cloche for school and trips to town. Yet while the silhouettes they love haven't changed, it's more than just the switch to straws that marks the young hat of Spring, 1953.

The smartest young bonnet is the scoop — the deep-brimmed, almost crownless silhouette that snugs the back of the head and lifts in a gentle arch over the brow.

But the scoop bonnet is sure to be an ice-cream pastel, a luscious confection of sugar-candy straw in fragile pink, vanilla or coffee, or even lime. The scoop may be completely simple and unadorned, or it might be flowerful in the traditional Spring fashion.

Crown of Flowers

The posy that's posed alone, usually down at one side of the brim, will most likely be a silk-and-velvet rose, or a bright American Beauty, fresh from the garden with rhinestone "dew." Or the smart junior may choose a crown of flowers, either a disc of tiny blossoms at the back of the head, or a wreath of dainty blossoms to make the point where the bonnet's crown melts into the brim.

The young Spring cloche that's a favorite with the younger set has a minimum of crown and a deep, slightly flaring brim, as close to the traditional bell shape as a belle can find. Another smart version is married to the sailor, combining a rounded cloche crown with the stiff little sailor brim. Both of these styles are taken straight, never fussed with streamers and posies.

Crisp plaids, checks and stripes, in bright red-and-white, navy-and-white, or tri-colors, give just the right accent to the smart young girl's suits, sweater-dresses and tailored coats.

Date-bait for juniors this Spring may be just a whimsical half-a-hat or a little cap.

They like the little hat that perches well back on the head and

And another signals mixup between the White House and Congress appeared to have developed. Wolcott said there has been no agreement between President Eisenhower and congressional leaders on the issue. After a White House conference Monday, House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass.) told newsmen an agreement on the Oct. 1 extension had been reached.

Wolcott, who attended the White House meeting, said this was a "misunderstanding." He added that the Oct. 1 date had been mentioned prominently but the question of whether there should be any extension at all—and if so, how long—had been left open for further consultation.

YOUNG FUGITIVE STILL MISSING

HARRISBURG (AP)—An interstate man hunt failed to turn up any clues today in the search for a Virginia prisoner, who escaped from his guard outside City Hall. Willard Isom, 20, broke away reveals most of their shining confitures. Pie-crust edges minimize the jaunty pillbox, and an 8-shape of straw, festooned with flowers, may be all the hat there is back of that sophisticated little nose veil.

Pretty posy pinks, natty navy, vivid red, sunshine yellow, lime greens, and the deep, smoky greys, or soft "natural" beiges, as well as lots of fresh, sparkling white—in piques and linens as well as straw—are the shades they find most complimentary.

from James A. Reams, Virginia prison official, and fled across the State Capitol grounds yesterday. Police ran down numerous clues during the day without obtaining any tangible trace of the fugitive. The Virginia prison official stopped off at Harrisburg while en route back to Virginia from Princeton, Ill., with Isom and a second prisoner. Reams, because of the other prisoner was unable to give chase to Isom when he slipped his handcuffs and ran.

Harrisburg city police, however, gave chase. Chief of Police Oscar Blough said three patrolmen sighted the fugitive a short time later in a doorway and fired three shots. He said they may have wounded him since blood was found in the doorway.

TV STATION FOR SALE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Philco Corp. yesterday asked the Federal Communications Commission for permission to sell television station

WPTZ at Philadelphia to Westinghouse radio stations for $1½ million dollars—a new top sales tag for a TV outlet.

The proposed transfer was announced last month, when Philco said it wanted to concentrate on its equipment manufacturing interests.

Because arteries always are empty after death, the older anatomists believed they contained air.

Paper Doll Look Is Out For Younger Girl; Slimmer Trend Influence For Juniors Seen

Junior fashions this Spring reflect the general trend to slimmness and graceful understatement, but retain the crisp, young flair that so smartly distinguishes them from other size ranges.

The trim junior figure is especially suited to the slender lines of the newest sheath dresses and casually styled slender coats, suits and dresses. Reed-slim though these fashions may be, a look of femininity is always retained through a simple, unexaggerated interpretation of the prevailing mode.

The full skirt is another flattering, meant-for-a-junior fashion that makes news this season with its look of restrained width. The smooth hipline with fullness falling below, or the "infanta" silhouette with gently arched fullness over hipline and stomach, suggest a natural, graceful look.

And the princess cut is a most wearable fashion, with its moulded, slenderizing line extending from the midriff to the hipline, the skirt flaring moderately from there.

Although the paper-doll look of shirred-at-the-waist skirts is out this season, the fashion for petticoats is still a favorite for juniors. The full-skirted look is expressed with a more controlled approach to width, and with emphasis on spaced pleats, back of side draping, or unpressed pleats.

One of the newest looks is the versatile costume, giving a junior with a young budget many possibilities in planning her Spring wardrobe. A good choice for early Spring right into Summer is the silk or rayon print dress with its own little cover-up jacket, often in wool jersey or linen. Another choice might be the "hipbone" jacket, boxy but slender looking, curving to the hips, and paired with a stalk-slim skirt.

Planning the Ensemble
Ensembles are usually planned to include a blouse with matching lining for the jacket, giving an elegant, "made for each other" look to the outfit. Weskies too, pair off with boxy suits, giving a splash of color to the otherwise muted tones of Spring. Or a little gilet, dickey, or neckline-filler is used to suggest a blouse.

Coats fall into the costume picture, often styled to match their own dresses, or skirts and blouses. The Chesterfield looks well on a junior figure, and is making news this year with its spectacular comeback to the fashion field.

The shirt tail coat looks just what it sounds like, and is a gay, young style to cover everything in this season's wardrobe. The princess redingote, smoothly fitted, and often with a little back-belt, is a modified, flattering style.

Look to necklines for a major portion of the fashion interest this Spring. Styles range from the low-curved boat necklines to tiny mandarin and collarless jewel necklines. The cardigan is very important, either open or closed at the collarbone. Decollete bodices take little cover-ups for daytime wear, and many bare-topped dresses feature narrow ribbon straps or shoulder ties.

Pussy cat bows under the chin, or long ribbon streamers flowing from Peter Pan collars suit the young, pet look of the junior. And for necklines that take a dip, the white gilet fill-in, in linen or pique, looks crisp and smart.

Fabrics look new this season, with many variations on old favorites. Denim, for example, may look like tweed, shantung or linen, and will be seen in pale tones as well as basic dark colors. Linen is a season-spanner, styled in jaunty separates as well as dresses and suits. Silk and rayon prints look cool and fresh, in brilliant or muted tones, and patterns that range from neat little geometrics to bold abstractions.

Slubbed and nubby textures appear in cottons, rayons, silks, wools and synthetic blends, while smooth fabrics are seen in serge, sharkskin, synthetics, jerseys and rayon blends. Flannels, gabardines and lightweight gabardines and lightweight tweeds star in suits and coats for Spring.

Place Radio Set In Texas Saddle

SAN ANGELO, Tex. — Soap operas and disc jockeys may be about to drown out the coyote's wail on the lone prairie.

What we mean, podner, is that a saddle with a built-in radio was displayed at the Houston Fat Stock Show.

The ornate saddle had a small radio worked into its pommel just under the horn. The radio was powered with two batteries carried in matching saddle pockets. A loop antenna was sewn under the saddle skirts.

The slim wrap coat, elegantly tailored and at home with either casual or dressy fashions, will be a wardrobe basic this Spring. Here it is in precious cashmere by Einiger Mills. A Lederman Brothers coat.

SHIRTS ACCENT COLLAR TRENDS

The trend to button-downs, rounds and the new short points in men's shirts continues to gain ground at the expense of the wide-spread collar.

A feature of the new season will be the increasing importance of short-sleeved models. While ventilated weaves, sheers and lightweight fabrics will predominate in this type of shirt, it will also be available in white on white and

Held Three Jobs; Must Give Up Two

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The man who held three public jobs — and drew three salaries — will have to relinquish two of them, the ministry of education has ruled.

Prof. Assis Gomes held chairs in the school of engineering and the faculty of philosophy, as well as acting as consulting engineer for a university building program. The ministry declared, "It is not just that anyone receive three salaries from the state when in numerous Brazilians desire opportunities to perform public services."

Heavy exposure to glare in bright sunlight or other glare may produce effects in the human eye which will reduce efficiency for as much as 48 hours, says the American Optometric Association.

regular weight oxfords and broad-cloths.

Although white will continue to dominate the picture in business shirts, solid colors, thin stripes and closely woven patterns are staging a sharp upsurge in this field.

In sports shirts, lightweight, ventilated weaves and sheers will continue popular, with summery cottons coming into increased prominence.

"Textured surface" or "surface interest" fabrics seem sure to grow in favor this Spring. Never before have so many nub, slub, grained and seeded effects been shown as will be seen in the new Spring lines.

Stripes will be strongly featured in men's sports shirts this Spring. They will include verticals, horizontals and stripes formed by a series of hit only at the collar, pocket and front.

All indications point to a big season for polo shirts, with collar-attached models running ahead of the crew-neck models.

LIGHT, BRIGHT LOOK FEATURED IN MEN'S WEAR

In tune with the "lighter, brighter" theme song for Spring in men's clothing, lighter shades will dominate the topcoat picture, with tan, gray and light blue favored. Some tweeds have pastel nubs over tan or grayish-tan background colors. Others feature large box overplaids and overall houndstooth or step patterns.

Tweeds and shetlands will take the spotlight in the Spring topcoat scene, as their rich new patterns take the eye and win the favor of smart dressers everywhere. Saxony and cheviot weaves are also expected to move up fast in the style sweepstakes.

Topcoats with set-in sleeves and balmacaan collar present the "newest look" for Spring. A close runner-up is the raglan sleeve cut, again with the balmacaan collar. Still the most favored of all cuts is the tubular-body coat, characterized by set-in sleeves.

Those long-time favorites, the Chesterfield and the Raglan, will continue to hold their places in the Spring style parade. The Raglan is a loose-fitting coat, built around the sleeve for which it is named, while the Chesterfield is fitted.

EDMONTON, Canada (AP) — Far north wheat yields of 48 to 50 bushels an acre have been obtained on observation tests at Fort Simpson, 825 miles north of Edmonton.

"Horticultural crops hold a primary interest in work at the Fort Simpson experiment station. The part played by vegetables in raising the standard of living in northern communities is realized, along with the need of building up scientific data," says J. A. Gilbey, head of the station.

VARIETY SPICE OF SPORTSWEAR

Many an otherwise conservative man welcomes the opportunity to give full sway to his flair for color and his urge to individuality and variety in the choice of his sports wear. This Spring, he will find the sports wear style stage lavishly set with a bright array of styles and colors to spur his imagination and give wide scope to his tastes.

Gayer and lighter in tone are the colors featured in the new Spring sports coats, which present a fascinating variety of fabric patterns, including plaids, checks, stripes and herringbones.

Favored among the fabrics are soft, lightweight tweeds, shetlands and chevots, together with wools and worsteds with strong surface interest. This is achieved by the use of slubs and nubs which create an impression of depth in the cloth and enhance the richness of the color effects.

Adding to the attractiveness of the Spring fabrics picture are the specialty fibers, notably cashmere and mohair, which come both alone and in blends with wool which create completely new fabrics. The orlons, dacrons and various blends of these and other man-made fibers with wool are looming large on the style scene.

New Style Families
Among the new styles bowing in for Spring is the one-button sports coat model. Created in California, this newcomer is reported due to give the more conventional four and three-button models a strong run for top honors.

Style touches that will identify the new sport coats as "definitely 1953" are the ticket pocket, side vents, pleated back and leather-covered buttons.

Fancy waistcoats will continue to grow in popularity this Spring. Tattersalls will lead by a wide margin. Plain solid colors and tartans will also be frequently seen, along with some striped reps and foulards.

For active sports, the always popular pullover will feature a wide variety of designs, including diagonal stripes and multi-colored patterns of Scandinavian flavor together with diamond patterns, hunting themes and other novelty effects. As usual, solid colors will continue in strong favor in the pullovers.

Wool fabrics will retain their popularity with sports participants, even in the warmest weather. Because the wool fiber can absorb 30 per cent of its weight, without feeling damp, it tends to eliminate unpleasant "clamminess" when a man perspires.

The sleeveless sweater will be offered in both pullover and button-front versions: Sweater-vests will feature plaids, tattersall checks and small stripes. The lighter Spring shades — tan, yellow, soft gray, light blue, light green and medium red — will be widely seen in sleeveless and full-sleeved pullovers as well as in cardigans and turtleneck models.

Slip Covers Offer Easiest Way To New Home Appearance

Slip covers offer the easiest and most attractive way to give homes a fresh look for the new season. With all the delightful new fabrics blossoming for 1953, the tired, drab look that rooms seem to acquire come the end of winter can be quickly transformed.

There is a richness of colors, patterns, weaves and textures in slip cover fabrics this season that opens unlimited horizons for the homemaker to give free rein to her imagination in creating a spring and summer decor that will gracefully reflect the dignity of her own good taste and personality.

The old "standbys" have changed their faces. They look new, fresh, more usable in their attractiveness and there's a host of metallic glint to add sparkle.

Designs for the most part are keyed to the casual way of life and run the gamut from gay stripes, delicate florals with a lacy look, quaint provincials freely drawn, to decorative geometrics inspired from all parts of the world.

For those who choose to be daringly imaginative there are beautiful botanicals; fabulous bird and flower combinations in magnificent colors with no special feeling for period.

Cheerful calicos and chintzes are suggested for sprucing up cottage type rooms, while plaids give brightening effects to just any room in the house.

Imported Belgium linen keynotes the line being readied for spring by one manufacturer. Design motifs have been derived from classic symbols and styled for use with traditional and modern furnishings. The entire group is composed of small scaled, hand printed patterns on white or natural ground linen. A muted color has been combined with brown or grey in each design. All the linens have correlated wallpaper.

The over-all color picture is exciting!

Mauve, fuchsia, violet, lilac and amethyst are cited as the purple tones. The reds are leaning toward orange-red, russet, persimmon and pumpkin. Black and white continue with a new "jet" look, while chocolate, sand tan, cocoa, terra cotta, blues and green will represent the landscape family for '53.

The all-weather coat makes news this spring in styles that face the sun or rain with equal poise. This silk and orlon coat by Lawrence of London is suggested by The Silk and Rayon Print Institute.

Wierman's Mill

WIERMAN'S MILL—Mrs. Ernest E. Wishard and Mrs. Phillip Aldinger spent Saturday in Hanover.

Mrs. Naomi Everhart and Mrs. Mearle Zeigler, New Cumberland; Mrs. Earle Rhoads and Mrs. Clarence Hoff and sons, Ronald and Wayne, and daughter, Beth, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keagy and family, York.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Smith, Hanover, entertained at a dinner last Saturday evening in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. E. J. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Powers, York, were among those visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Smith, Sunday.

EXPECT EARLY HOUSE ACTION ON SESSIONS' BILL

HARRISBURG (AP)—Speedy passage of a proposed amendment to the State Constitution calling for annual sessions of the General Assembly was promised in the House Wednesday.

"It's the only business-like way to run the state government," said Chairman Ivan C. Watkins (R-Schuylkill) of the House State Government Committee.

Watkins said the measure, already approved by the Senate for the second time, probably will reach the House floor for debate by next Tuesday.

Watkins was joined in his prediction of quick passage by Reps. Albert W. Johnson (McKean), Republican floor leader, and H. G. Andrews (Cambria), Democratic floor leader.

Three More Steps

The proposed amendment with the approval of the 1951 Legislature already behind it, needs only passage by the House, signature by the governor and approval of the voters to become law.

Behind the bill is a drive to economize in state government and to put legislators in a better position to gauge state expenditures and receipts during the fiscal period.

Sen. Rowland B. Mahany (Crawford), GOP floor leader in the Senate, pointed out Tuesday that other states comparable to Pennsylvania, such as New York, New Jersey and California, have found the annual plan successful.

"They take no more time in their two annual sessions than we do in one biennial session," Murray said.

MACHINES IN HEN HOUSE

NEW YORK (AP)—More and more the machine is getting into the poultry business. There are gadgets which pick off the feathers, debark hens which peck each other, and sort eggs. Recently a tractor device has been added which pulls a set of long revolving teeth to stir up the litter in a chicken house.

STOCK MARKET RACES AHEAD

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market raced ahead Wednesday in early dealings at such a fast pace that the tape fell late in reporting floor transactions.

The congestion lasted for only a few minutes, but it created plenty of excitement at the moment. Huge blocks dotted the tape frequently, most at higher prices.

Some gains ran to between 1 and 3 points at the outside. The majority of the gains were small fractions. There were many backward as in the last with several individual stocks hanging back in the upswing, but the basic trend was ahead.

Railroads, oils and motion picture issues found the greatest demand and some of the best price increases.

Marajo, an island within the mouth of the Amazon, is about the size of Denmark.

IKE TO BEGIN TALKS TODAY WITH FRENCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower begins cold war strategy talks with top French leaders today amid reports the U. S. is ready to transfer available funds to rush military aid to Indochina.

Plans for such stepped-up military shipments were reported taking shape behind the scenes as the President arranged to meet French Premier Rene Mayer aboard the yacht Williamsburg.

The visiting French leader, assisted by a 35-man delegation which includes three Cabinet officers, was expected to outline Indochina war plans for the next year at the opening talks.

Enthusiastic Over Plan
These plans, already made known to key American agencies, call for mobilization of 57 new commando battalions of Indochinese. However, bigger and faster military cargoes must be sent from the U. S. to make this possible.

American officials, who sometimes have criticized French operations in Indochina, said they are enthusiastic about the new French plans. They said the Eisenhower administration is ready to back them although this would mean diverting foreign aid funds from other areas.

Sharing importance with Indochina in today's opening talks was France's plans for approving the long-delayed European Army treaty.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, anxious to translate the plan into action, were

UAW Ready To Back Reuther In Battle

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers convention stood ready today to pass President Walter P. Reuther some ammunition to use in his current unofficial negotiations with the auto industry.

The ammunition was in the form of a resolution which would threaten the industry with no more long-term contracts after 1955 unless it agreed promptly to some revisions in the five-year agreements now in force. Future contracts would be for no more than two years.

Reuther has contended that the pact have become outdated because of inflation brought on by the Korean War, which was unforeseen when they were signed in 1950.

USSR Starts Big New Aid Plans For China

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets today charted a big new aid program for Communist China to boost their Red ally's heavy industry. In return, the Peiping government will send raw materials to Russia.

Moscow papers announced that a new agreement and two protocols covering the program were signed here recently in the presence of Chou En-lai. He came to Moscow early this month as head of the Chinese delegation to the funeral of the late Joseph Stalin.

It has been estimated that aluminum forms about one-thirtieth of the earth's crust.

reported eager to hear from Mayer personally about prospects for its ratification by the French Parliament.

MAY LICENSE RADIO AND TV TECHNICIANS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Radio and television repairmen would be required to pass certain examinations and would be regulated by the state under a new House bill.

Sponsored by Rep. Vincent F. Gutendorf (R—Luzerne), the measure would set up a five-man state board of examiners of radio and television service technicians. All members would be radio or television servicemen for at least five years.

The measure would license the repairmen in the same manner as barbers, architects, pharmacists and chiropractors.

Other new House bills would: Increase the term of House members from two to four years—Reps. Paige Varner (R—Clarion), Leroy A. Weidner (R—Berks) and James E. Lovett (D—Westmoreland).

Increase the work week of state employees from 35 to 40 hours a week and provide for time and a half payments for overtime—Rep. Edward Dunn (R—Northumberland).

Prohibit discrimination in rents against occupancy by children—Reps. Herman Toll, Samuel Floyd, Albert Leven and John J. Welsh, Philadelphia Democrats.

Exempt income taxes from the constitutional requirement of uniformity in rate—Rep. Albert S. Readinger (D—Berks).

Provide for state regulation of tourist cabins and motels by the State Health Department—Rep. Henry E. Ragot (R—Northampton).

Prescribe 10-year contracts for the transportation of school pupils—Rep. James J. Gleason (R—Lycoming).

Establish traffic courts in third class cities—Reps. Moran F. Zeigler (R—Dauphin) and Robert S. Ogilvie (R—Dauphin).

Encourage location of new and expansion of present industries within the commonwealth by appropriating 10 million dollars to municipal authorities for the construction of factories—Reps. Philip Lopresti (D—Cambria) and Raymond E. McDermitt (D—Cambria).

Provide that 25 per cent of the dog license funds be used for stocking small game—Rep. Francis Worley (R—Adams).

Give 18-year-olds and youths drafted under that age the right to vote—Rep. Worley.

Require school districts to receive approval of the voters before organizing authorities—Reps. Norman Wood (R—Lancaster) and Charles R. Reagan (R—Union).

Senate Tempers Flare In Debate Over "Chip" Bohlen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate took time out today in the Eisenhower administration's first open foreign policy fight with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), centering on Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen's nomination to be ambassador to Russia.

Tempers flared angrily during yesterday's debate. Senate Republican Leader Taft of Ohio and Senate GOP Policy Chairman Knowland of California united to champion President Eisenhower's appointee.

McCarthy and Sen. Bridges (R-NH), co-leaders of the fight on Bohlen, conceded his confirmation by a big majority when the Senate votes. A vote is likely tomorrow; the Senate is in recess today.

Bohlen's opponents have raised questions about his security and have said he was intimately linked with Democratic foreign policies which, they contend, were repudiated in the 1952 elections.

The controversy reached its peak when Knowland, his face flashing anger and resentment, challenged what he interpreted as a reflection by McCarthy on his truthfulness.

The question was raised whether former Ambassador Hugh Gibson had joined ex-Ambassadors Joseph C. Grew and Norman Armour in recommending assignment to Moscow of the 48-year-old Bohlen, a veteran foreign service officer and Russian specialist.

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said Gibson had told him by telephone he had made no recommendation on Bohlen, as reported by Secretary of State Dulles to the foreign relations committee.

Knowland then produced what he said was a Jan. 29 memorandum to Dulles signed in ink with the names of Gibson, Grew and Armour.

This memorandum referred to an attached list of recommendations for diplomatic posts. Knowland declared, and added that an inspection of the list showed that next to Russia was the name of Bohlen.

Knowland said he was not at liberty to read the entire document.

While Democrats chuckled, McCarthy brought Knowland to his feet again by suggesting that Dirksen be allowed to see the letter since he was a "good security risk."

The Californian furiously announced he had "not misrepresented the facts," and added that if McCarthy thought it was necessary for Dirksen "to verify what I told the Senate," Dirksen was free to see the letter.

"There's no need to get excited," McCarthy declared. "No doubt you told us the truth."

Knowland said he did not propose to question every communication sent up by the secretary of state.

"If we have so destroyed confidence in the men chosen to serve in high places in our government," Knowland declared, "God help our country if that's the basis we are going to operate on."

McCarthy's voice rose in turn as he shouted back that "the mere fact that Dwight Eisenhower nominates someone doesn't mean we should blindly confirm him."

U. S. SEIZES SEVENTH SHIP

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Federal authorities have seized a seventh privately-owned vessel the government claims was purchased as war surplus in violation of a 1946 act.

Government agents boarded the tankers Lake George Tuesday, allowed the vessel to proceed to Paulsboro, N. J., to discharge a cargo of gasoline and then ordered it to return to Wilmington.

Two other vessels—the Mermaid and the Memory—were seized off the coast of Delaware in recent weeks. Four others, two at Paulsboro and two at San Francisco, also have been taken into custody.

The government claims the Lake George, seized on the same grounds as the Memory and the Mermaid, was purchased by alien interests in violation of a law requiring corporations buying war surplus ships to be at least 75 per cent American owned.

U. S. Dist. Atty. William Marvel said the Lake George is at least partly owned by Greek nationals. The North American Shipping and Trading Co., Inc., own the Mermaid and the Memory.

The Lake George and three other vessels, Marvel said, were purchased by the U. S. Petroleum Carriers, Inc., which was financed and activated as a Delaware corpora-

Baruch Wants Congress To Be Ready To Fix Economic Controls In Event Of War

WASHINGTON (P) — Bernard M. Baruch said today that if war comes and finds the government unprepared to clamp on immediate economic controls, "there will not be a person alive who will not bitterly rue this tragic, needless neglect."

Urging that the administration and Congress get together on a standby economic controls law—or that Congress do it alone if necessary—the New York financier and adviser to presidents said:

"The next war—and all of us pray it will be avoided—is likely to explode in a big smash. Cities may be all but obliterated. Who knows where Congress will be? ...

Fare Simple Issue
"You face a simple issue," Baruch said in a statement to the Senate Banking Committee. "Are we to take the elementary precaution of writing into law now what we know would have to be done in event of emergency?"

"Or shall we neglect this vital measure of defense and, in doing so, increase the risk of war, add to the toll of dead and wounded if war does come and make inflation certain—all needlessly?"

Baruch had been invited to give his views to the senate committee, which is considering various legislative proposals for some sort of standby controls law.

Present authority for wage-price controls and allocations of scarce materials is due to expire variously on April 30 and June 30. President Eisenhower has said that except for allocations power and rent ceilings in critical areas, he will ask neither for their continuance nor for standby authority. Eisenhower has already decontrolled wages and prices.

Wants Standby Authority
Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) of the Senate Banking group has been plugging for standby authority to freeze prices, wages and rent for 90 days after the start of a declared emergency.

Baruch said he has no idea what position the administration will take on the controls issue—"whether they will confuse their peace-time economic philosophy with the needs of war."

But he appealed to Congress to take matters into its own hands and provide authority for a freeze on prices and wages, along with priority and allocation powers, in event of a new war.

Baruch said that any enemy of this country can have only one war plan: To overwhelm the U. S. before its productive energies have been converted from peace to war. For that reason, he continued, the longer the U. S. delays its mobilization, the greater an aggressor's chances of winning.

Gave No Details
Baruch is sometimes credited with persuading Congress to give the Truman administration broader economic control authority than it sought at the start of the Korean War in mid-1950.

Baruch did not spell out details of the legislation he urged, but he

Society Cast In Musical Comedy

ROME (P) — Rome's aristocracy is raising its annual charity fund this year with a snappy U. S. style musical comedy written by American composer Paul Baron.

The musical comedy, with an amateur volunteer cast of Rome's society names, started Rome showings recently. The show goes on the road for runs in Florence, Milan — and maybe Rio de Janeiro. The wife of Brazil's President Getulio Vargas has invited the cast to fly there for performances in joint benefit of Italian and Brazilian charities.

said it should provide standby authority for doing everything that was necessary in the last war "plus whatever else may seem necessary because of atomic developments." Also, he said, some one agency should be charged with working out a mobilization plan and building a skeleton force of trained personnel to man it.

GETTYSBURG ON NEW HOTEL MAP

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Men pushing wheelbarrows, a battlefield monument, skyscrapers and Independence Hall are some of the things an artist sees in a broad view of Pennsylvania.

These and many more are part of a giant-size map of the state that went on display here Wednesday. The mural, 42 feet long and 18 feet high, was executed by Claude Rodewald, internationally known artist, for the lobby of the Penn Sheraton Hotel.

Rodewald, best known for his "Paris Street Scenes," started the mural in the shape of a map of the Keystone State. In their proper places he sketched objects and events symbolic of the areas rather than following the traditional map pattern of one dot equals a city.

The men pushing wheelbarrows are close, on the mural, to belching smokestacks labelled, Allentown and Bethlehem. A battlefield monument indicates Gettysburg. Skyscraper skylines are part of the identification of the two biggest cities, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. The latter also includes a drawing of Independence Hall.

Many motor car horns are tuned to E flat and G, a tone which is said to carry farther than many others.

DUFF SUGGEST MEN FOR JOBS

WASHINGTON (P) — U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell has received recommendations for filling three federal judgeships and three U. S. attorney vacancies in Pennsylvania, according to an aide to Sen. Duff (R-Pa.).

"I do not know whom the attorney general will recommend," the spokesman said. "But routine FBI checks are now being made."

Names of persons recommended by Duff were not disclosed. Both Duff and Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) received scores of suggested names for appointments.

A spokesman for Martin, meanwhile, said he did not know if Martin had joined in the recommendations although he added that Martin and Duff had conferred recently on the patronage question. Subject to Senate confirmation, final appointments will be made by President Eisenhower. U. S. District Judges are appointed for life. U. S. attorneys are appointed for four-year terms but are considered to serve at the pleasure of the President.

Two district judgeship vacancies exist in Eastern Pennsylvania and one in Western Pennsylvania. Eastern and Middle District U. S. attorneys have resigned, and Duff's aide said the Western District recommendation was made in anticipation of a resignation.

WOO CHILDREN WITH COLOR
RALEIGH (P) — Color plays an important role in child behavior, says Julia McIver, State College extension clothing specialist. In selecting children's clothing, she advises choice of gay, lively colors but not harsh or gaudy combinations. Prints with colored backgrounds or all-over patterns do not show dirt or wrinkles as do solid or white materials.

Play costumes, like cowboy suits, can be made flame-resistant by using three ounces of boric acid dissolved in two quarts of hot water. Do not rinse; repeat after laundering.

The invention of cannon has been assigned to a monk named Berthold Schwartz in 1313.

NOTES ON STRAWBERRIES

Early March planting of strawberries is widely approved. But, if adverse soil and weather conditions or other factors have caused postponement of this work, planting may still be done with safety. It is, however, well known from experience that the first-summer toll from early April plantings is far heavier than from plants set out in March.

Untried varieties should always be tested on a small scale to determine their producing merits in each community. Beginners should choose a variety known to succeed in the immediate neighborhood.

If planting cannot be done as soon as plants are received, heel them in to protect the fibrous roots from drying.

"Puddle" plants before planting. This means to dip the roots into puddled clay loam.

Firm fertile soil around and over the roots and then water to settle soil into close contact with the roots. Pinch off all but the tip leaves. This operation balances top growth with interrupted roots during the first two or three weeks.

Remove all flower stems the first season to prevent formation of fruits. This precaution reserves all plant vigor to develop strong roots and crowns for the future.

Mulching between the rows and closely around the plants not only eliminates labor of cultivation to eradicate weeds and grass but it conserves soil moisture and induces feeder root growth in the richer surface soil. Hay, straw, grass clippings, immature weeds, shredded stalks, sorghum cane bagasse, or other waste vegetation is suitable for summer mulching.

After strawberries come into bearing, summer mulch aids greatly to protect the fruits from soil contamination. Too, old mulch materials may be turned under between the rows to improve the soil.

In small home garden beds strawberry plants are usually set by the spaced-row system. This refers to plants spaced 10 to 14 inches apart in the row and each plant allowed to retain two runners within the row and these in turn to develop two or three plants. Others prefer to set plants 18 to 20 inches apart in two close rows (4 to 6 inches wide), with the plants staggered and all runners retained to form a solid double row.

Commercial fertilizers should not be considered in roles of correcting soil defects for strawberries. First emphasis should be placed on providing plenty of organic matter deep in the soil by turning under a heavy green manure crop the previous year or well rotted manure before planting time. It is a waste of labor, investment, and time to attempt to grow strawberries where the soil is shallow or hard.

In most soils acid phosphate should be broadcast and worked into the top soil during preparation work. Thereafter it is wise for every grower to experiment with a few plants to discover what kinds and how much fertilizer is beneficial to maintain plant vigor and increase fruit production.

One sound feeding fact is known. Side dress plants with nitrate of soda in late August, especially the first season after planting, to promote strong crowns before winter. Many tests show that overfertilization may actually decrease yields.

Beginners and experienced growers alike should write the editor at once to ask any questions about strawberry culture that is standing in the way of a clear program of planting and care.

EUROPEAN CORN BORER CONTROL
Last year (1952) the European corn borer destroyed 53 million bushels of field corn on American farms for a total damage exceeding 77 million dollars. Approximately 90 percent of this burdensome toll was suffered in Corn Belt states. Of course, it is almost impossible to estimate how many millions of dollars this invader took from commercial and home garden plantings of sweet corn.

Thirty-five years of experience have demonstrated that the corn borer cannot be controlled by federal quarantine efforts. This action has served mainly to delay its spread. Today borers infest corn throughout northern states and are extending ravages farther and farther southward every year. How to control this enemy or at least to reduce drastically the damages it causes annually should be known and practiced by every field corn and sweet corn grower.

The European corn borer lives over winter as a fully developed caterpillar (borer) or "worm," hibernating inside the stalk or stubble it infested the previous summer and fall. Some live over in corn ears or in fleshy-stalked weeds, including pigweed, smartweed, cocklebur, barnyard grass, lambs-quarter, and foxtail. In the East where a two-brood infestation occurs each year the over-wintering shelters may include over 200 kinds of plants, among which are rhubarb, dahlia, aster, gladiolus, cosmos, chrysanthemum, millet, and numerous other field crops and ornamentals. It is not known why this insect infests so many different kinds of plants in its two-generation area in the East.

At this time of the year gardeners and farmers enjoy a rare opportunity to reduce 1953 corn borer numbers by destroying the surviving borers from last year. Three main steps in such a campaign are stressed:

1. Corn stubble being the chief over-winter homes for borers, all stubs should be cut off close to the ground and burned or plowed under deep before borers pupate.
2. Stalks left in the field, garden or feedlot should be as carefully burned or turned under.
3. Because, as already mentioned, eastern corn borers may spend their winter in fleshy stalks or many other plants, all such litter should be included in a careful spring clean-up.

Of course, farm and garden soils desperately need the valuable organic matter corn stubble and corn stalks offer. To utilize this litter on compost heaps necessitates shredding stalks and stubs into one-half inch lengths. Coarser cutting may leave surviving borers.

When corn stubble or stalks are plowed under many of the borers escape from their winter homes and crawl to the soil surface. But there they are either killed by inclement weather or eaten by birds. But, if they find any exposed stalks when they reach the surface, they may easily enter and there complete their life cycle and produce another generation. Thus, plowing should leave no corn refuse exposed; neither should it permit exposure of any litter later on soil preparation and cultivation.

Because the egg-laying moths fly readily from farm to farm and from garden to garden, successful combat of corn borers by spring clean-ups becomes a community wide task. And in this region weeds refuse should be included with field and sweet corn debris.
